The squad cars traveled 12,028 miles, and 2,388 radio calls were dispatched.

The report also shows no burglaries during the month, and no thefts over $50, a record which the department is proud to report.

However, Chief Ford states that there were too many accidents within the city limits and he urges motorists to use every precaution when driving. He asks cooperation of drivers in keeping a safe speed when driving on the city streets, especially at intersections, around schools and churches, and other congested areas. By observing all traffic signals many accidents can be averted, thus saving the car owner serious damage to his automobile and possible injury to himself or occupants of the car.

McKinney's police are courteous at all times and are ready to offer assistance to the citizenship whenever needed, but they need the hearty cooperation of everyone to keep the city safe.

While most of the accidents recently have been of a minor nature, they were caused from a traffic violation and could have caused more serious damage. Chiefs Nitcholas and Ford state "we were lucky none of them proved fatal, even though the property damage was high. Let's slow down, be more courteous when driving, and give the other fellow the right-of-way."

▶ THE TOM and PETE Column today is directed to every man and woman in the City of McKinney who is working and has a job. The drive for funds for Salvation Army started today and money is badly needed to "CARRY ON THE WORK IN MCKINNEY." We are wondering if you and you have ever seen a man and wife with several small children needing help. Yes, needing a meal, medical care, needing a little help to get them on their way. Or needing a night's lodging.

Yes, and needing a few clothes. Well to you men and women in McKinney that have regular jobs, THIS HAPPENS EVERY WEEK IN MCKINNEY, and the one organization that is helping is Your Salvation Army. Or have you every talked with a Mother with four small children asking for a little help. She has come to see her husband who is a patient at the Veterans Hospital. He might not live too long.

Well, you are going to ask "why did she come" to McKinney, knowing that she had no money. The answer is very simple. She loves her husband just as you love yours and she wants to be by his side. Yes, and this section of Your Home Towners team has been asked by several. "Do you know that they are in need?"

In some cases we must have to admit that we are not positive, but always remember when helping those in need, that we should not judge, Christ will judge.

Friends, in McKinney, only last night a call came to my home that a man and his wife along with several small children were stranded in McKinney. They were fed, they were given gasoline and oil for their old beat up car. They went on their way to Dallas where Salvation Army has a place where they could get a night's rest, a bath, and have a member of the Salvation Army give them the needed Spiritual guidance that might help them.

Yes, friends in McKinney this happens every week and only by your contributions can we carry on the work of this great Christian organization in McKinney and over the state. And if any of you folks in McKinney doubt any of these words, I would personally like for you to be here and see some of the cases and hear their stories.

Won't you give. Your McKinney Council of Salvation Army works free, no paid workers here to carry on and we promise that your donations will help some unfortunate person or persons.

Send Your Donations To Salvation Army, McKinney. They are badly needed.

Texas Power & Light Co. Wins Electric Industry's Award

Texas Power & Light Company Wednesday night was named winner of the electric industry's highest honor, the Charles A. Coffin Award for 1954, in ceremonies conducted at the 23rd annual convention of the Edison Electric Institute in Los Angeles.

The award was presented to W. W. Lynch, TP&L president, by Phillip D. Reed, chairman of General Electric Company, donor. The award is presented annually to the electric utility company judged as making the greatest contribution to the advance of the industry and service to customers. TP&L Company is the first company in the Southwest to win this award, which was established by the General Electric Company 33 years ago in honor of its first president.

In selecting the winner this year, the judges cited Texas Power & Light Company "for extraordinary enterprise and resourcefulness in uncovering and developing the extent and value of untapped natural resources... and for its contribution to the industrial and agricultural development of Texas."

The judges, this year, were Harold Quinton, president of Edison Electric Institute, Dr. James R. Killian, Jr., president of Massachusetts Institute of Technology, and C. W. Kellogg, past president of Edison Electric Institute.

Important among the reasons Texas Power & Light Company won the award were its research program of preparing and using lignite in power plant boilers, pointing toward the development of a low-cost fuel for production of electric power, and the use of this natural resource for the further industrialization of the AP&L service area.

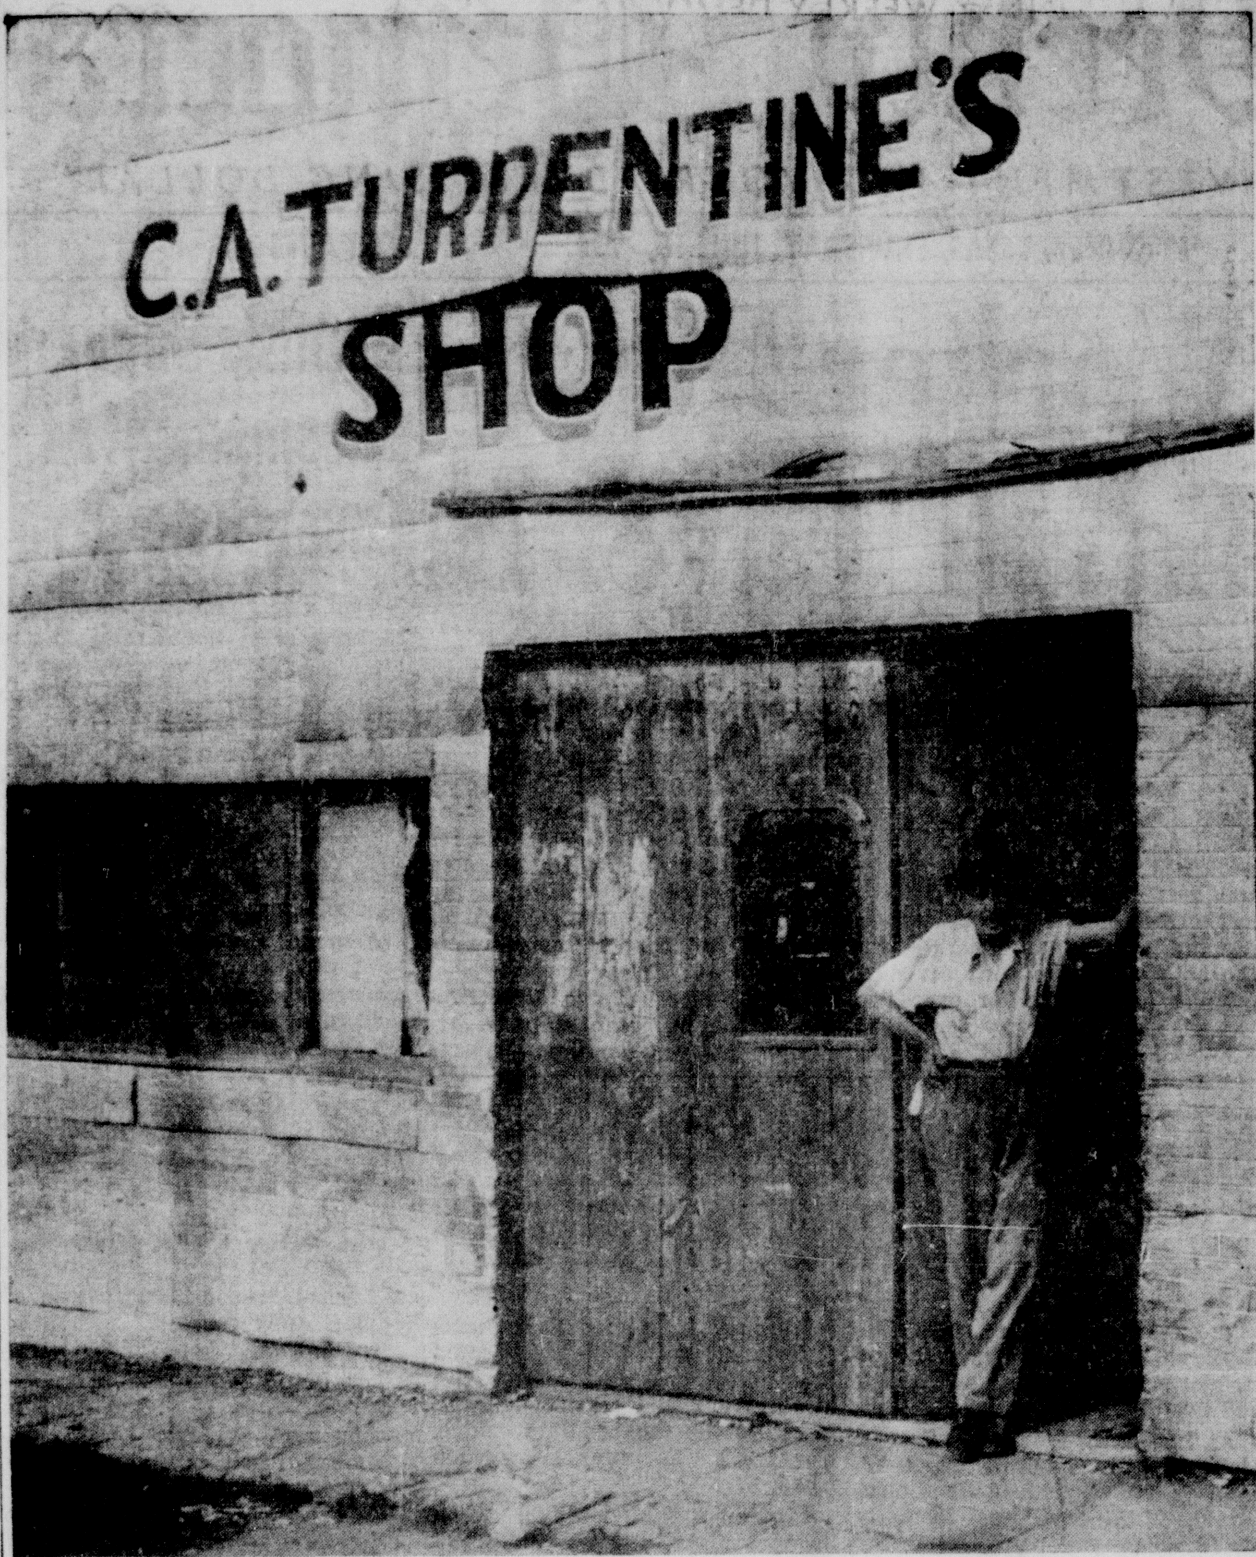

After some thirteen years of experience using lignite as a fuel for its Trinidad generation station prior to 1940, the Company, in 1948, began an extensive research program, working with the U. S. Bureau of Mines, to determine how Texas lignite could be used more effectively as a fuel.

The results obtained in this program were largely responsible for the location in Rockdale, Texas, of the Aluminum Company of America's new smelting plant.

In the citation by the Coffin Award judges, TP&L's lignite investigations are commended as "nationally recognized to be of benefit to the industry and the public by opening up the potentialities for economic exploitation of its service area, have resulted in the establishment of many new plants.

In the agricultural field, the company is carrying on an expanded farm service program, with specialists in the field in direct contact with the farmer and his problems. Research on practical and economical application of electricity to farm operations is included among projects being carried on in cooperation with educational institutions and other established farm agencies.

C. A. "Uncle Charlie" Turrentine Moves Shop After Fifty-Three Years

By FRANCES STOGDILL

Razing of C. A. Turrentine's Shop, on North Tennessee Street, has been underway this week, to make room for a modern, new bank building which is to be constructed on the location soon.

The old building has been occupied as a wood-work, and repair shop for over a half century, and Mr. Turrentine holds the distinction of having been in business, at the same location, longer than any other business establishment in McKinney.

Charlie Turrentine, came to McKinney in his teens and began working with the late Scotty Forsyth, as a blacksmith. "Scotty's Blacksmith Shop" rings a familiar note with many of McKinney's residents, especially the old-timers, since it was one of the most popular business establishments here for many years. The building, when first built, occupied the lot (now a used car lot, just across the street, North from the Daily Courier-Gazette and Weekly Democrat-Gazette office. Scotty was a prominent and well-known figure during his useful lifetime. After he closed his shop and the building was torn down, Mr. Turrentine retained part of the building for his wood-work and repair shop. The old shop was torn down in April 1939.

Mr. Turrentine, a native of Tennessee, first became associated with the late Mr. Forsyth in February 1902. He had been in McKinney since 1899, first employed at the A. L. Gerrish Blacksmith Shop located on South Tennessee Street, now a modern, Gulf Filling Station. It will be remembered as the Old Faires Shop. He remained there a year, and then went to California where he stayed until the spring of 1902, returning to McKinney to begin working on the location which was to be his business place for the next 53 years. At that time Uncle Jack Howard, an old-time blacksmith associated with Scotty Forsyth, recommended Young Turrentine to take his place, as he was becoming feeble and unable to continue the work. From that day to the present Mr. Turrentine has continued to work in cabinet making, wood and auto top repairs. He is an expert in his line and has finished many beautiful pieces of furniture during those years.

Mr. Turrentine recalls many memories of the "old days" when he first came to McKinney which he contrasted with our modern, present day times. He first worked on buggies, cars, wagons, thrashers, and repaired all kinds of furniture, as well as make furniture anew. Today he is often faced with a repair job on one of our modern, streamlined cars, farm combines, or household furnishings. He has gained the reputation of being about "the best in the business" when it comes to refinishing wood items.

Many changes have taken place on the two blocks of North Tennessee Street, from the Square, to Hunt Street, since the days of "Scotty's Shop", states Mr. Turrentine. He remembers when the street was lined with family dwellings, or vacant lots. In fact, the Daily Courier-Gazette and Weekly Democrat-Gazette office lot was the "City Pound" for many years. The paper, at that time, was published in a building on North Kentucky Street. The old First Presbyterian Church, a wooden structure was on the site of the Elliott Lumber Company office now. A short time after the church was torn down and a new brick edifice erected on North Kentucky Street, where it is today. A small dwelling occupied the corner lot which is now a service station.

Paved streets were yet to be, in those early days, but Mr. Turrentine recalls a few street lamps were scattered over the city.

Three major tragedies occurred in this neighborhood in those early days, one of which was the collapse of the Mississippi Store, one of McKinney's biggest dry goods establishments. Several persons were killed and many others injured. Mr. Charlie was among those who worked incessantly to rescue the injured people from the store.

He recalls another incident when a young housewife was burned to death. Her clothing caught fire while she was burning trash. This occurred across the street from his shop in the back yard of one of the dwellings facing North Kentucky Street.

Another time he heard a pistol shot and walked a few feet around a wall to see a man lying dead, who had just been shot.

The more pleasant memories are of the progress which McKinney has continued to make steadily each year since. Modern business buildings which reach from the public square for several blocks in each direction, paved streets, not only in the business section but throughout the city and county; the rebuilding of the Collin County Court House, modern churches, schools, beautiful residential districts, and the many modern utility conveniences which are enjoyed by our citizenship today.

Mr. Turrentine built the first closed-in truck in use here. He made the truck body for the late W. H. Knott, McKinney baker. He recalls the early day movies, one of which The Airdrome, was where Howell's Appliance and Furniture store is now located, next door to this office. The show was open-air, and only silent movies were shown.

Garages were unknown here for several years, but livery stables were plentiful.

When Mr. Turrentine first came to McKinney the Old Settlers Picnic was held on the creek banks on Bingham's place, back of the old Kirkpatrick homeplace in Southwest McKinney. The picnic was a three-day celebration which families attended throughout its duration, camping on the picnic grounds. A barbecue pit, several feet long was dug where fresh meat was roasted and enjoyed by the large throng attending the event.

It is with a note of sadness that we bid our beloved long-time neighbor goodbye, but we trust he will find time to visit us again on frequent occasions. Throughout the years we have been the recipient of numerous treats in the way of luscious fruit from his home orchard; pecans, or bouquets of beautiful flowers. We will miss seeing him each day as he worked at his trade, across the street from us.

Mr. Turrentine will continue to operate his wood and repair shop at his home, 807 North Kentucky Street, where he has erected a small building for this work. His host of customers will find that he will be equipped to continue the same very fine service in the future.

The Turrentine family are members of the First Methodist Church being active in the various organizations of the church. Their daughter, Miss Doris Turrentine is one of the efficient teachers in the McKinney public schools, and their oldest son, Donald Turrentine and family reside in Oklahoma. The youngest son, Ernest Turrentine, wife and little daughter, Freda Beth, reside in McKinney.

N. Texas League BASEBALL

By NORMAN SCOTT
Celina 11, VA Hospital 7
The Smotherman brothers, Dan and Johnny, led Celina to a 11-7 win over McManey VA Hospital at Celina Sunday afternoon in a North Texas League game.

D. Smotherman collected 2 triples and a single in 4 official times at bat and J. Smotherman had a double and 3 singles in 5 times, with each driving in 3 runs.

Blaine Hall, with a double and 2 singles in 5, and Rob Tillett, with 3 singles in 4, paced VA Hospital at the plate, along with Don Anderson who had a triple and Denny Hays, who hit a long home run.

VA scored twice in the first only to have Celina come back with 3 in their half of the first. VA went ahead by counting four in the second and one in the third and held a 7-3 lead until the bottom of the sixth when Celina shoved across four runs to tie the score at 7-7.

Celina came up with another 4-run inning in the eighth to win the game. The four runs came after the base umpire changed his decision on a double play that apparently retired the side.

Vernon (Lefty) Watson, after a shaky start, settled down and shut out VA the final six innings.

Rob Tillett hurled the first six innings for VA, and allowed 7 runs and 4 hits before being relieved by G. T. Rose at the start of the seventh. Rose was the victim of Celina's four run uprising in the eighth and was the losing pitcher.

Scoring Summary—
(VA) First Inning—Keeton was safe at first when the third baseman bobbled his grounder—Hall doubled to left with Keeton stopping at third—D. Anderson walked, loading the bases—Lovely struck out—Keeton scored from the leftfielder dropped Crawford's fly in leftcenter—R. Anderson flied to right with Hall scoring after the catch—Eldridge popped to second, retiring the side—2 runs, 1 hit, 2 errors.

(Celina) First Inning—Bell singled and stole second—Hamby was out on a topped ball in front of the plate, catcher to first with Bell going to third on the play—D. Smotherman walked and J. Smotherman doubled scoring Bell and D. Smotherman—Brown singled through the middle counting J. Smotherman—V. Watson flied to center and Waldrip popped to short, retiring side—3 runs, 3 hits, no errors.

(VA) Second Inning—Hays walked and Tillett singled with Hays going to third—Keeton singled to center scoring Hays and sending Tillett to third—Hall moved to second on the throw-in—D. Anderson walked and Lovely popped out to first and when the first baseman threw wild on the throw-in back to the pitcher on the mound, Keeton scored from third with Hall moving to third and D. Anderson to second—Crawford flied to center and Hall scored after the catch and D. Anderson went third—R. Anderson popped to first, retiring side—4 runs, 3 hits, 1 error.

(Celina) Sixth Inning—V. Watson lined out to right—Waldrip singled—C. Watson was safe at first when third baseman let his grounder get away from him with Waldrip stopping at second—Bell singled to right scoring Waldrip and sending C. Watson to third and took second on the throw-in—Hamby doubled down third base line counting C. Watson and Bell—D. Smotherman singled to right center scoring Hamby to tie the game at 7-7 but Smotherman was out at second when catcher Don Anderson took the throw-in from right and threw to Lovelady who covered second on the play—4 runs, 4 hits, 1 error.

(Celina) Eighth Inning—Waldrip singled to center—C. Watson struck out—Fields was hit by a pitched ball—Bell grounded into an apparent double play short to second to first but the base umpire, after calling Bell out at first, changed his decision—on a delayed steal, Waldrip scored from third, with Bell moving back to first after faking a steal of second—Hamby singled and D. Smotherman tripled to left scoring Bell and Hamby—J. Smotherman singled to rightcenter counting D. Smotherman—Brown reached first when the shortstop let his grounder get by him—V. Watson struck out—4 runs, 4 hits, 1 error.

ATTENTION DAIRY FARMER

The Governor has signed into law a bill that removes all obstacles to Grade A dairymen using Plan B for the eradication of Brucellosis.

Here is a five step program that will fit any dairy. But all five steps must go together — you can't just pick out the easy ones. Plan B was designed to work in well managed herds. So the first four steps are preliminary to use of this plan. And, incidentally, it won't work until they are taken care of.

1. Protect drinking water from contamination with body discharges of animals. Stock ponds should be fenced and a siphon pipe put over or through the dam to a through below. Marshes or stagnant streams should be fenced off. Contaminated water is the frequent source of new infections other than direct contact with carrier animals.

2. Protect feed from the body discharges of animals. Hay should be fed from racks and other feeds from troughs.

3. All animals that show indications of illness or impending abortion should be immediately isolated in a "hospital" pen and kept separate from the herd until they are normal. All new animals that are added to the herd should be negative to the blood test and then should be isolated for thirty days and rested before turning into home herd.

4. Heavy springing cows should be put in a maternity pen ten days before calving and kept there until all discharges cease following calving. All membranes and still-born calves should be immediately buried. Many cows that have normal calves are the worst spreaders of brucellosis.

5. Contact the local veterinarian who is to do the testing and vaccinating. He has Plan B agreement forms which should be filled out in triplicate. The veterinarian will send these in to the Livestock Sanitary Commission to officially endorse the herd.

SUMMER LIVESTOCK FEEDING

Protein supplements, minerals and plenty of roughage from the necessary combination for keeping livestock healthy and growing during the dry, summer months when green grazing is short.

Too many producers overlook the protein supplement and mineral part of this combination, according to U. D. Thompson, extension animal husbandman. Livestock need more than dry grass — oft times the only feed available in mid-summer.

Thompson suggests supplementing the roughage, whether it be dry pasture, baled hay or bundles, with two pounds of cottonseed meal supply the necessary mineral, Thompson says. These may be fed free-choice separately or in combination.

By creep feeding, producers can lighten the load on mother cow's and market heavier calves. Start the calves on oats, slowly reducing the oats and adding corn. When all green grazing is exhausted, the addition of 10 pounds of cottonseed meal to each 100 pounds of grain mix is recommended.

CAN SNAP BEANS BY NEW ONE-STEP METHOD

The latest method for canning vegetables is a one-step cold pack method, according to Extension food and nutrition specialists.

Directions are simple — As an example, take snap beans. Begin by washing all pint or quart jars in hot soapy water and rinse well. It is not necessary to sterilize jars since the pressure canner must be used in canning all non-acid vegetables.

Use only fresh, tender beans. The bean should be just beginning to form in the pod. Wash thoroughly, trim ends and cut into 1-inch pieces.

Thus far there is nothing different from the old method of canning snap beans. Now you will note that the fill is different.

Pack raw beans tightly into clean jar to ½ inch of top. Cover with boiling water, again leaving ½ inch space at the top of the jar. Add ½ teaspoon salt to pints and 1 teaspoon to quarts.

Close jars with two-piece lid and place it in the pressure canner. Exhaust canner for 10 minutes, close petcock and process at 10 pound pressure — pint jars 20 minutes quart jars 25 minutes. Remove canner from heat, let pressure return to zero and remove the jars.

This new one-step method can also be used for canning fresh lima beans, carrots, cream style corn, whole kernel corn, black-eyed peas and summer squash.

For further information check with your local home demonstration agent. You may also wish to ask for a copy of B-194, "Home Canning of Fruits and Vegetables."

Tuna supplies body-building protein similar in amount and quality to that in a serving of meat or poultry.

Tuna is high in fat, therefore an excellent source of vitamin D. A relish tray is sometimes called "Finger Salads" because it consists of vegetables cut into convenient sizes and shapes suitable for picking up with the fingers for eating.

MILK — COOL REFRESHMENT FOR HOT SUMMER DAYS

Do you reach for something cold to drink on these hot summer afternoons? Good, ice cold milk is your best choice, both flavor-wise and nutritious-wise, according to Extension food and nutrition specialists.

Be sure it's ice cold . . . but don't put ice cubes in it for that will dilute it and spoil the flavor. The easiest and the best way to make sure your milk is cold when you drink it is to use cold glasses. Try keeping several empty glasses in your refrigerator during the summer months. When you pour milk into the frosted glasses, it will really be cold and delicious.

A glass of milk is refreshing any time during the day. Try drinking it when you stop to rest in the midst of your housework. It serves as a quick energy pick-up and is loaded with food nutrients.

An 8-ounce glass of whole milk has 170 calories, about one-thirtieth of the daily caloric requirements, more than one-fourth of the riboflavin, and more than one-sixth of the protein requirement. Milk is your best source of calcium, the mineral that keeps bones hard.

Why not begin getting in the milk-drinking habit at mealtime and between meals too. Most people like plain milk at mealtime, but for between meals try adding a scoop of ice cream or a little sweetened, crushed, fresh fruit.

Whether you're enjoying plain milk, or a dressed up version, you'll find milk tastes better these hot days when it's served in a frosty, cold glass.

Collin Reared Man Honored By Students In Richmond College

The following item from the Richmond (Kentucky) Daily Register, is of interest to readers in Collin County since it concerns a former resident of this county, Dr. Fred P. Giles.

Dr. Giles was reared on a farm at Westminster, the son of Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Giles, pioneer citizens. The item in the Richmond paper appeared under the caption "Does It Register?" and the article was written by Randall Fields, as follows:

"Dr. Fred P. Giles, head of the Eastern art department, has always been the target for comments on the campus and last week ESC students honored the genial Texan by voting him the most popular 'prof.' They made a dandy choice. 'Modest Fred said he just didn't know why he came out on top in the election. Well, there's not room in this space to list all the reasons for his success in the realm of popularity. But it's a cinch he's a good joe. He makes friends easily — and keeps them. This scribe well remembers that when he came to Richmond in 1948, he had not been here a week before Fred invited him to Sunday breakfast."

"The tall, drawing Southerner has other honors to look back upon. While at Southern Methodist University, he was taken into highly regarded Phi Delta Theta and when he gained his Ph. D. degree at Peabody College he received the coveted Sullivan Award. "Perhaps one of the chief reasons Fred is so popular is because he has a knack for remembering names and faces. When he meets a new class at Eastern he calls the roll only on the first day. Thereafter, he just glances from class roster to assembled students to check absences. The tax on his memory is even made tougher because he never seats them according to alphabet."

Wheat Referendum To Determine Next Years Quota June 25

The referendum to determine whether or not the marketing quota program will be in operation for the 1956 wheat crop will be held June 25th.

R. J. Wilson, Chairman of the Collin County Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Committee, advises that arrangements for holding the referendum have been made. Polling places will be established in the following locations: Allen Community at the City Hall in Allen; Anna and Westminster Communities at Fowells Gin Office in Anna; Celina and Weston Communities at the City Hall in Celina; Farmersville in Basement of Post Office; Frisco Community at Bank Bldg. in Frisco; McKinney and Princeton Community at Farmers Co-Op Gin Office, 123 S. Tenn. St., McKinney; Melissa Community at Farmers Co-Op Gin Office in Melissa; Plano and Wylie Communities at Christie Im Co. Office in Plano; Prosper Community at Co-Op Store in Prosper.

The hours for voting in the wheat referendum on Saturday, June 25th will be from 8 a. m. to 7 p. m.

Each wheat grower in the county has been advised of his farm's 1956 wheat acreage allotment. Farm allotments are based on a national wheat acreage allotment of 55 million acres, the same as this year. The Collin County wheat allotment for 1956 is 40,923 acres.

Mr. Wilson explains that if the vote is favorable, the program will be in operation for the 1956 wheat crop, and price support for the crop in the commercial wheat area—depending on the supply situation—will probably be between 75 and 82 per cent of parity. The support level for this year has been announced as 2.14 for Collin County. At the present time there is a deduction for storage and handling of 14c per bushel, netting the producer around 2.00 per bushel for his wheat.

A producer who exceeds his farm wheat allotment or 15 acres, whichever is larger, will be subject to a marketing penalty equal to 45 per cent of parity on the excess production.

If the vote is unfavorable, the support will be 50 percent of parity. In either case, only the wheat from farms where the wheat acreage allotment is not exceeded will be eligible for price support.

Mr. Wilson points out that at least two-thirds of those farmers voting must favor the quotas if the program is to be in operation for the 1956 wheat crop. If more than one-third vote "no" the wheat marketing quota program will not be in operation for the 1956 crop.

In a similar referendum held a year ago, the national vote was close, 208,623 for and 76,023 against—a favorable vote of 73.3 percent compared with the necessary 66.23 percent. In Texas, the vote was 10,856 for the 1299 against, and in Collin County 223 for and 23 against.

Any farmer whose farm will have more than 15 acres of wheat for grain in 1956 is eligible to vote. The vote will determine whether or not farmers use quotas in marketing their wheat crop next year; it will also have a important effect on the level of price support for the crop.

Remember the referendum is on Saturday, June 25th. Vote.
